A Data-Informed and Standards-Based Approach to Professional Growth and Evaluation

For Teachers and Professional Educators

INTRODUCTION

The aim of professional growth for teachers is to continuously improve their practice to enhance student learning. As educators, we strive to improve our instruction in order to meet the learning needs of students in a complex and changing world. To achieve this aim, we need to engage in substantive and reflective dialogue about teaching and learning. As a community of learners, we need to make important decisions on how to allocate sufficient time and resources to support on-going teacher learning and growth. The American International School Chennai Professional Growth and Evaluation Process is based upon the assumptions that standards provide a structure for professionalism and growth and that on-going improvement is best guided through reflection data, dialogue, inquiry, and goal-setting. This process is designed to provide the framework, time, and resources for effective professional growth and evaluation.

The cornerstone of the Professional Growth and Evaluation Process is the 12 Teaching Standards that reflect research on effective teaching and learning and significant input from members of the AISC community. These standards are at once well-tested in the field and designed to fit our context. Most significantly, the work of Charlotte Danielson (Enhancing Professional Practice, ASCD, 2007) informs the standards and our process. These standards describe observable educator performance that we believe are most beneficial to student learning. At AISC, we have developed our standards on Leadership, Personalized Learning Environments, and Technology, which not only suit our context, but also resonate with much of Danielson's work.

The process described in this handbook is meant to help educators meet, and ideally exceed the expectations in the 12 Teaching Standards. Non-teaching educators, like counselors, librarians, athletics directors, and principals also have their own sets of standards, which they will use for professional growth purposes. The process is comprised of a four-pathway approach to teacher assessment. A teacher is placed on the New Teacher Pathway, the Professional Growth Pathway, the Self-Assessment Pathway, or the Professional Improvement Pathway, depending on the circumstances surrounding teaching performance as outlined in the handbook. Through this four-pathway approach, the Professional Growth and Evaluation framework ensures continuous improvement of instruction by allowing teachers and supervisors to do the following:

- Collect valid and reliable information on performance that is related to the 12 Teaching Standards from multiple sources – students, parents, and supervisors;
- Analyze the data, reflect, and engage in substantive conversations about performance;
- Set annual student learning and professional goal(s) that are aligned with one or more of the 12 Teaching Standards;
- Develop a Professional Growth Plan that will serve as a guide to help achieve professional goal(s).

MISSION

Together we inspire a love of learning, empowering all students with the courage, confidence, creativity and compassion to make their unique contribution in a diverse and dynamic world.

OUR CORE VALUES

We believe that...

- Each person has equal intrinsic value, worthy of dignity and respect.
- We are responsible for our choices and their effect on ourselves, others and the environment.
- Being open to new ideas and challenging experiences enriches our lives.
- Mutual respect, trust and caring foster healthy interpersonal relationships.
- Embracing our diversity makes us a stronger community.
- In an interconnected world, our positive contributions to the community and the environment are essential.
- Individuals thrive in a nurturing environment that provides for their physical and emotional safety.

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES

By 2018, all students will:

- Explore new interests with curiosity and be resilient in pursuing their passions.
- Evaluate real world situations, identify problems and design innovative solutions.
- Choose to actively serve their local and global communities.

INTERNATIONAL-MINDEDNESS

At AISC, we define international-mindedness as:

Possessing a strong sense of one's own cultural identity; Respecting and valuing the differences of others; Learning about local, national, and global issues; Showing empathy for others and care for the world around us.

Therefore, as an international school, we are committed to:

Incorporating other perspectives; Seeking common learning experiences with all peoples; Finding enriching connections between cultures; Using exposure to language, history, and the arts to access diverse cultures; Working well with all; Contributing through service; Reflecting about our thoughts and actions.

Vision for an AISC Learner

At AISC, successful learners are...

Leaders

We show courage by taking action and inspiring others to serve and contribute positively to our interconnected world. Leaders develop a vision, plan appropriately, and work collaboratively to achieve results.

Collaborators

We develop a deeper understanding by listening carefully to others' perspectives and confidently articulating personal viewpoints in the pursuit of common goals.

Innovators

We approach uncertainty with confidence, designing novel solutions in the face of challenges or change. Innovators are creative, resourceful, open-minded and resilient, seeking new perspectives through inquiry, trial, error and feedback.

Explorers

We investigate new interests with curiosity, inquiring with purpose, and seeking deeper understanding and fulfillment through their independent pursuits.

Thinkers

We use critical and creative thinking skills to analyse and take responsible action on complex problems. We exercise initiative in making reasoned, ethical, data-informed decisions.

Ethical

We show responsibility for our choices and consider their effects on ourselves, others, and the environment. We act on our principles and ideals because we value the dignity of others.

Versatile

We adapt to changing circumstances, balancing our commitments and showing courage as we take on new challenges. We seek new opportunities for learning, growth, and renewal.

Empathetic

We appreciate our own cultures and personal histories while respecting the values and traditions of others, believing each person has equal intrinsic value. We are sensitive to the needs of others and show compassion by making positive contributions to our local and global communities and the environment.

Resilient

We demonstrate on-going commitment to our endeavors by learning from our successes and failures in the positive pursuit of our objectives, goals, aspirations, and dreams. We practice patience and persistence in all situations, especially when they are challenging or uncomfortable.

Reflective

We pause to think about our goals, learning, and growth in order to develop and sustain our creativity and lifelong learning. We review and examine our own ideas and experiences in relation to the world and consider our interdependence and impact on others.

AISC PROFESSIONAL GROWTH AND EVALUATION PROCESS ASSUMPTIONS

The collaboration team developed this handbook as a guide for faculty to better understand this formative evaluation process using multiple input sources to promote ongoing, individualized professional growth for all employees. This handbook is updated annually to include changes from what we've learned about this complex process.

Implementation of a formative process featuring data (qualitative and quantitative) from multiple sources about teaching performance and student learning responds to the need for teachers to have a broader and deeper sources of performance data than solely their supervisor's observation and analysis alone. The assumptions of a data-informed, collaborative, and formative process are:

ASSUMPTIONS

- Data-informed approaches mean the teacher receives appropriate assessment information from principals, students and parents or another appropriate constituency group, depending on job assignment.
- Faculty want to take an active role in their professional development and learning, to be given information that relates directly to student learning, and to have choice in how they respond to formative assessment.
- When students provide feedback to their teachers about classroom climate and learning, there results a positive impact on student learning (Price, 1990, Wilcox, 1995).
- Effective teacher assessment is best accomplished using a judicial blend of assessment methods. We believe that a data rich blending of feedback, annual goal setting, self-assessment, reflection, student learning data, dialogue, peer collaboration, and scheduled and unscheduled classroom observations by principals and/or peers produces the optimal context for growth.
- If multiple input feedback is beneficial for faculty, then its worth must be the same for administration.
- Teachers are at differing levels of orientation to the school. A new teacher to AISC has different professional (and personal) needs than does a returning faculty member.
- The research on multiple input feedback indicates that the teacher's self-assessment is closely correlated to the results of student surveys; both relate positively to student learning outcomes (Manatt, 1997).
- Feedback from parents who are answering appropriate survey questions about their child's teacher, more times than not, provides supportive and positive feedback to the teachers.
- Setting annual goal(s) will be meaningful for faculty when using multiple data sources. This data should help educators set professional goal(s) for improvement of student learning and teaching performance. Linking data collection, analysis and self-assessment to goal setting is the most essential step in a formative assessment process.
- Sharing expertise is essential. Ask 1,000 teachers about what concerns them most in their jobs and 999 will say either the need for more time or the fact that their job features considerable isolation. Multiple input feedback promotes teamwork, looking outward rather than inward, and a sense of responsibility for people within our school to help each other improve instruction to students. The multiple feedback sources that we are using at the American International School Chennai include:

1. Principal/supervisor interaction and dialogue
2. Self-evaluation
3. Reflection
4. Student achievement data from internal and external assessments
5. Feedback from students directly for each class
6. Feedback from parents as extracted
7. Results from the faculty satisfaction survey, if relevant

The key components are to provide:

- meaningful feedback to faculty about student learning
- valued feedback to faculty on their performance
- helpful discussions with colleagues and facilitators and supervisors
- every faculty member with time to reflect upon and assess his or her performance

Using the process described in this handbook, we hope to achieve the following goals:

AISC will use a Professional Growth and Evaluation system to:

- ✓ Focus on the teacher's role in student learning and achievement;
- ✓ Help recognize and commend good teaching through discussion between the teacher and his/her facilitator and supervisor;
- ✓ Provide a clear process with support for continual and individualized professional development and learning;
- ✓ Provide opportunities for teachers to help each other grow professionally;
- ✓ Implement and support the AISC Mission and Core Values;
- ✓ Promote mutual trust and shared responsibility among faculty, administration, peers, students, and parents;
- ✓ Ensure that professional goal(s) are aligned with school-wide priorities;
- ✓ Communicate clear and specific performance standards and criteria;
- ✓ Require information on performance from multiple sources;
- ✓ Educate the AISC community about the process;
- ✓ Be fair and extend due process to all parties;
- ✓ Provide information to assist in personnel decisions, including assignment, transfers, and continuing employment.

IT IS ALL ABOUT INSTRUCTION

The central idea that defines our teaching assessment procedure is to ensure that everyone within our school is focused, through their everyday endeavors, on high quality instruction for students.

We wish to emphasize in this handbook the ongoing and fluid nature of professional development and learning, and that the processes and practices on which it depends are inherent to the life-long growth of a teaching professional.

AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL CHENNAI TEACHING STANDARDS OVERVIEW

What are these standards?

These standards are a framework for an educator's job description for our school. They describe specific teaching behaviors, which, based on research and current practice, influence student achievement. Similar standards for specified positions such as counselor, athletic director, librarian, and academic support teacher have also been developed. Administration performance is also assessed against established standards.

What will these standards be used for?

Self-reflection and professional growth. By clearly stating expectations in the form of teaching standards, faculty members are provided a great breadth of indicators on which to reflect on their teaching performance, analyze strengths and weaknesses, and integrate what is learned from various data sources and inputs, including student and parent feedback into their practices.

Evaluation. When teacher performance is high and meets American International School Chennai teaching standards, the focus remains on continuous improvement and professional development and learning. If a faculty member doesn't meet one or more AISC teaching standards, he or she may be placed on the Professional Improvement Pathway. In this case, focused support from the supervisor and principal is provided for improvement of performance so that AISC teaching standards are being met. This support will be decided by the principal or supervisor for the teacher, with clear, observable expectations outlined in the improvement plan.

By defining our expectations through the AISC Teaching Standards, thus allowing greater responsibility by our faculty to take ownership in their professional growth, a considerable amount of professional development and learning decision-making is given back to each teacher.

Our school's definition of professionalism is to meet the teaching standards, to have strong and current content knowledge, to take initiative, to take risks, and take responsibility for continuously improving instructional practices to enhance learning experiences of our students, our colleagues, and our school.

What is working well about the PG&E process at AISC?

- It is an established process that is predictable, transparent and growth oriented.
- There is high faculty satisfaction with the process.
- It is a personalized plan that provides teachers the feedback they need to grow as a professional.

The standards and performance indicators are provided in the appendices for each job classification.

THE FOUR-PATHWAY APPROACH TO TEACHER EVALUATION

Components, Timeline, Procedures and Protocol

The American International School Chennai Professional Growth and Evaluation Process provides for four performance review pathways. Each pathway, based on the teacher's tenure at AISC and performance, is described below.

I. NEW TEACHER PATHWAY

We recognize that teachers new to AISC face a variety of issues that relate to both their professional and personal lives. This pathway is designed to provide an appropriate level of support for new teachers, but not to overwhelm them, particularly during their first semester.

- The AISC Professional Growth Process is introduced during the New Teacher Orientation.
- By October 15th, the teacher will meet with his/her supervisor and establish two professional goal(s) for the year to follow the Professional Growth Pathway. These goal(s) will be linked to one or more of the 12 AISC Standards and/or the teaching team student achievement goal, depending on the teaching assignment. Having one goal which is shared with a team is an option, but not required.
- Before December 15th, and following a series of informal classroom visits and feedback, the supervisor will draft a progress report. A minimum of one formal evaluation will take place before the winter vacation.
- Before winter vacation, the supervisor and the teacher will meet to discuss the draft progress report. The supervisor will finalize the progress report and provide a copy to the teacher. If significant teaching performance concerns are observed, by contract, the teacher's contract may not be renewed.

II. PROFESSIONAL GROWTH PATHWAY

The Professional Growth Pathway is designed for teachers to take ownership of their own professional growth. The essence of this Pathway is on setting goal(s) that are linked to the AISC teaching standards and an educator's own learning aspirations, and then assessing the achievement of those goal(s) after collating a wide variety of data throughout the year.

- Educators create a Professional Growth Plan, setting professional goal(s) for the year. These goal(s) are linked to the AISC Teaching Standards, educators' professional objectives, and are based on data gathered during the previous year. The teacher sets one individual performance goal and has the option of choosing another performance goal or setting one team-oriented student learning team goal. Teachers are encouraged but not required to involve peers in the achievement of their growth plans and/or in classrooms visits.
- Prior to September 30 each year, the teachers will meet with their supervisor and discuss their Professional Growth Plan.
- Throughout the year the teacher will gather data from a variety of sources, including assessments from classroom from parents and students and notes from formal and informal observations by supervisor.
- Time in the winter professional development and learning day will be provided for teachers to reflect on the data relating to their Professional Growth Plan and complete the Professional Growth Portfolio.
- Teachers will also complete the reflection section on their efforts to complete their Professional Growth Plan; this will be given to the goal setting supervisor.
- Towards the end of the year, teachers and their goal setting supervisor will meet to reflect on the teacher's assessment of their Professional Growth Plan.
- From this Goal Attainment Meeting, the pathway each educator will take the following year will be decided by the supervisor in consultation with the teacher and tentative goal(s) established.

III. SELF-ASSESSMENT PATHWAY

While the process for the Self-Assessment Pathway is similar to the Performance Growth Pathway, the key difference is that on this Pathway the teacher is responsible for assessing and reflecting on their own performance. In a majority of cases, a teacher follows this pathway every three or four years.

The Self-Assessment Pathway can take two routes: Standards (SAP-S) and Excellence (SAP-X).

The SAP-S pathway requires teachers to set goals related to a subset of the AISC Teaching Standards and collect specific data to demonstrate performance in those standards. Teachers will submit their SAP-S report containing a meta summary of their performance per standard as well as relevant evidence either via portfolio, narrative, blogging or other means approved by the administrator. This pathway is ideal for educators who wish to concentrate on improving a set of standards related to their practice and/or are relatively new to the profession. Most teachers joining the self-assessment pathway for the first time should choose SAP-S.

The SAP-X pathway requires teachers to reflect on the AISC Educator Profile and set goals related to the actions/attitudes outlined in the profile. Teachers will then reflect on their progress by quadblogging (2 blog posts per month) within the community of others pursuing the SAP-X pathway and will share some of their evidence on the blog. A final report will be submitted to the administrator with the blog as supportive evidence. This pathway is ideal for highly reflective teachers who are comfortable with self-assessment and desire deep and focused feedback. It is also ideal for teachers who feel they have exceeded many of the AISC Teaching Standards and are looking for another way to grow. Choosing this pathway must be approved by an administrator.

	SAP-S	SAP-X
Concentration	AISC Teaching Standards	AISC Educator Profile
Goals	Related to 2 or 3 standards or 1 domain	2 or 3 goals related to attitudes or actions
Evidence	Required and presented to administrator	Required and reflected on during process
Format	Portfolio, narrative, blog or other approved by administrator	Blog shared 2 times per month with administrator and others pursuing SAP-X
Mid-Year Reflection	Format determined by administrator	Format determined by administrator
Final Report	SAP-S Form	SAP-X Form

STEPS TOWARD THE SELF-ASSESSMENT PATHWAY - STANDARDS (SAP-S)

Step one: Review the AISC Teaching Standards. Choose a domain or a set of 2-3 standards to concentrate on for the year. These may be areas of weakness of which you know you need to attend to or they may be areas in which you are already solid but wish to push yourself to the next level of growth.

Step two: Meet with your administrator to discuss the standards you wish to pursue for approval as well as to discuss broad stroke ideas regarding potential goals.

Step three: Write goal statements around the standards. Make an initial list of how you will meet these goals, what support you may require and what evidence you may collect in support of your growth throughout the year.

Step four: Meet with your administrator to finalize your goals.

STEPS TOWARD THE SELF-ASSESSMENT PATHWAY - EXCELLENCE (SAP-X)

Step one: Review the Educator Profile document as a whole. Consider the goals and challenges that most resonate with you. Consider how these are linked to the capacities (attitudes and actions).

Step two: Take a moment to celebrate the attitudes and actions that you know are strengths. Blog about these strengths as part of the process if you so desire.

Step three: Choose two or three attitudes or actions that you would like to push for personal growth in this academic year. These may be areas of weakness of which you know you need to attend to or they may be areas in which you are already solid but wish to push yourself to the next level of growth.

Step four: Write goal statements around the two or three attitudes/actions. Make an initial list of how you will meet these goals, what support you may require and what evidence you may collect in support of your growth throughout the year.

Step five: Meet with your administrator to discuss and finalize your desired goals.

IV. PROFESSIONAL IMPROVEMENT PATHWAY FOR TEACHERS

This pathway is designed to address significant concerns the principal has with the performance of a teacher related to one or more teaching standards.

A teacher who does not meet an acceptable level of performance on one or more of the 12 teaching standards may be placed on the Professional Improvement Pathway by their principal in collaboration with the head of school.

Teachers may begin the school year on the Professional Improvement Pathway or they may be placed on this pathway at any time during the academic year.

- The principal arranges a conference with the teacher. The principal provides written notice, also signed by the head of school, with an explanation and reasons why the teacher is being placed on the Professional Improvement Pathway (PIP). When a teacher is placed on a PIP the section principal assumes all subsequent supervisions.
- A teacher may request a peer advocate at any time during the process.
- A teacher placed on the PIP will be given at least 90 calendar days to address concerns before a non-renewal decision can be made.
- The teacher also receives a letter in which he or she acknowledges written notification being received as to placement on the Professional Improvement Pathway. This letter must be returned to the principal within five working days.
- Within two weeks of being notified, the teacher will meet with the Principal and create a Professional Improvement Plan to address performance concerns.
- The plan must address the specific concerns, based on the teaching standards that arise from collected data and must contain actions that are measurable by the principal/supervisor and rationales for desired results.
- The teacher implements the plan and begins to collect data into a Professional Improvement Plan Portfolio.
- At least every two weeks, the teacher will meet with the principal to review progress associated directly to the actions prescribed in the plan. The teacher will receive written feedback on observations conducted since the previous meeting. Written suggestions for improvement aligned with teaching standards will also be provided at each meeting. This written feedback will be signed by the teacher and principal.
- At the end of the prescribed intensive assistance timeline, a formal review will take place. At this time a decision concerning renewal of contract or placement on a specific performance growth pathway will be made. The principal makes a written recommendation to the head of school.
- A contract for the next work year will not be offered until performance concerns are resolved. Refusal to be placed on Professional Improvement or refusal to acknowledge the standards-based concerns raised by the principal as significant professional improvement issues will result in non-renewal of contract.
- A teacher whose performance does not meet teaching standards with a prior placement on the Professional Improvement Pathway may face contract non-renewal.

ANNUAL GOAL SETTING: THE PROFESSIONAL GROWTH PLAN

The multi-source input approach provides the teacher with an array of data for analyzing and reflecting on performance. Considering that feedback data includes impressions from students, selected parents, supervisor/principal, peers, self-reflection, and student achievement information, the setting of improvement goal(s) in relation to the AISC Teaching Standards can be more focused on teaching and learning.

A standard AISC Professional Growth Plan form is first reviewed at the end of each school year, with a first draft of possible goal(s) for the coming year based on the multiple input data and the year-end goal attainment meeting with the goal setting supervisor. In the fall of each school year, the goal setting form is completed and reviewed with the goal setting supervisor.

In order to take advantage of the feedback provided through the professional growth process, to promote the use of teams in our learning organization, and to focus on the improvement of student learning, all faculty set two professional goals for each academic year. Faculty on the Self-Assessment Pathway, incorporate the self-assessment process into their goal setting for the year on this cycle.

All faculty will establish two professional goal(s) for the year to follow the Professional Growth Pathway. These goal(s) will be linked to one or more of the 12 AISC Standards and/or the teaching team student achievement goal, depending on the teaching assignment. Having one goal which is shared with a team is an option, but not required.

An optional second goal is to work in collaboration with a grade level or department team focused on the improvement of student learning. Teams will be those groups with whom an individual already affiliates as part of their daily work, for example, grade-level teams, or departments. An optional second goal for faculty who are not members of the above mentioned teams will be one that focuses on the improvement of student learning and is to be formulated as either a second professional goal or a collaborative goal set with colleagues or as a department. Other teams may also make sense for different educators depending on their position in the school.

Critical to the success of goal setting that focuses on teaching and learning is the need to link data analysis and AISC Teaching Standards with goal(s) for student learning, individual teacher and school wide performance improvement. Research on data-informed improvement processes indicates that goal accomplishment is more likely when the following factors are embraced:

- The teacher truly believes that the goal is hooked to feedback data;
- Enough time is allowed for analysis, reflection, and discussion with peer(s) goal setting facilitator, supervisor and principal;
- A process for assessing success is outlined;
- Deadlines are reasonable;
- Goal(s) are announced publicly (team, grade level, department meetings). (Manatt, 1997)

PROTOCOL FOR COLLECTING MULTIPLE INPUT DATA

Multiple-Input feedback is not an evaluation of an employee's performance, it is a source of data to enrich perspective about your professional performance. While the information from this process can be used by the facilitator as assistance in making a decision about placing a teacher on the Professional Improvement Pathway, it must be stressed that this is a formative process.

The following chart provides explanation of procedures, roles and responsibilities for collecting survey data within the three-tiered system of evaluation.

The protocols are specific to the data that is acquired through the dissemination, collection and collation of survey scan forms. Confidentiality is crucial in this process. The procedure must ensure objectivity.

Explanatory email letters and/or instructions are provided to teachers who are administering the surveys to students. Other email letters with needed information about the process will be provided to parents. These letters should be used in two ways. First, to provide advanced notice to participants regarding the intent of the survey, and second, to explain the procedures to be followed in completing the online survey form.

SELF-ASSESSMENT PATHWAY

What is the purpose of the Professional Growth Portfolio?

The Professional Growth Portfolio is the place where teachers store selected the information about their teaching performance collected from multiple sources of input (self, students, colleagues (as applicable), parents, supervisors). Periodically, during the professional growth and evaluation process, teachers will analyze this information to gain new insights on their professional practice and growth.

The gathering of data, letters, artifacts of teaching and students' work should be a natural process. As in good practice relating to portfolio work, there is no burden of proof attached to your portfolio. It should be a reflective process to support the teacher in reflecting more deeply about the full or selective bodies of work that comprise the teacher's professional life. A culmination of this process will include a portfolio of work, the completion of the self-assessment reflection form, a discussion of your work with your supervisor, and (optionally) the sharing of your work with others. The portfolio can be in hard copy, digital, or a combination of both.

In summary, educators will do the following:

- Identify areas of strengths and improvement so that annual professional goal(s) can be aligned with one or more of the 12 teaching standards;
- Create goal statements directly related to targeted standards;
- Develop annual Professional Growth Plans that will serve as guides to help achieve professional goal(s);
- Engage in substantive, data-driven conversations with colleagues, goal setting facilitators and supervisors about teaching performance and professional goal attainment;
- Complete a comprehensive portfolio process that facilitates substantive, personal, and professional reflection about their performance in relation to one or more of the 12 teaching standards. (Completed if on the Self-Assessment Pathway).

A teacher's Professional Growth Portfolio may contain the following sets of information about teaching performance:

- Professional Growth Plan
- Evidence of Student Achievement (e.g. student work, externally moderated assessments, authentic assessment results, etc.)
- Peer coaching feedback (Optional: Some teachers will collaborate and observe each other's teaching for reasons of professional growth)
- Student to Teacher Feedback Survey
- Parent Satisfaction Feedback Survey
- Evidence from classroom observations
- Teacher work (e.g. unit plans, committee work, etc.)
- Self-Assessment Form (completed once every 3/4 years on the Self-Assessment Pathway)
- Letters from students/parents/other faculty
- Other information deemed relevant by the teacher

USING THE SELF-ASSESSMENT FORM

Instructions for Self-Assessment Form

When on the Self-Assessment Pathway, educators will make reflections about their performance in relation to selected American International School Chennai Teaching Standards. Educators will document these reflections by completing the Self-Assessment Form during the year. Listed below are some guidelines to complete this form.

1. Acquire the Self-Assessment Form Template from the AISC Moodle server.
 - Consult the contents in your Professional Growth Portfolio that you have gathered over the past 3 years. The contents should include all of some of the following:
 - ❖ Professional Growth Plans
 - ❖ Results from Student to Teacher Surveys, Parent to Teacher Surveys, and Self-Assessment surveys
 - ❖ Documents related to classroom observations from a supervisor(s).
 - ❖ Evidence of student work
 - ❖ Evidence of teacher work
 - ❖ Letters from students, parents, colleagues and supervisors
 - ❖ Standardized Test results
 - ❖ Other items deemed relevant by the educator or supervisor
2. Examine, analyze, and reflect upon this information in your Professional Growth Portfolio in relation to the rubric describing each of the 12 American International School Chennai Teaching Standards.
3. Based upon your analysis of the information in your Portfolio in relation to the descriptors (see the Appendices), refer to each relevant standard and check either Meets Standard or Does Not Meet Standard. Develop a narrative justifying your reflection in the space provided.
4. If you feel that you have exceeded the standard in some ways, please write a narrative describing how in the space provided. You may check the box Exceeds Standard if you feel that you have fulfilled and transcended all the expectations in the descriptors.
5. The standards descriptors are not an exhaustive list and should not be used as a checklist to self-assess your performance. They are included to provide guidance for your reflections.
6. Submit a completed Self-Assessment Form to your Facilitator, so he/she may respond to your Self-Assessment Form under Supervisor's Response.
7. Schedule an End of the Year Self-Assessment Conference with your supervisor to review your Self-Assessment Portfolio. The supervisor will make a decision regarding your placement on a specific pathway for the following year. Also at this meeting you will work with your supervisor to develop tentative goal(s) for the next cycle/school year.

Attitudes/Actions chosen for goal setting:

Goal Statements:

Reflection:

Why did you choose the above attitudes/actions?

Reflect on the growth you have experienced in relation to each goal. You may submit a reflective narrative about the SAP-X process and your personal/professional growth or, if you prefer, you can respond to the following prompts.

In choosing the SAP-X approach, you were seeking ways to deepen your professional self-awareness, broaden your understanding of ways to improve your practice, and challenge your thinking about teaching and learning. Reflect on these aspects of your growth: What were highlights for you? What surprised you? What was most disruptive or challenging for you? What meaning do you derive from these aspects of the experience?

Response:

Part of the SAP-X experience is that you engage collaborative inputs from colleagues. Discuss what you learned from collegial participation and feedback and reflect on the value of collaboration as part of your professional growth.

Response:

Our best hopes would be that the SAP-X experience leads to new questions and feeds your thirst for further reflection and learning about yourself and your practice. So, regarding your professional growth, what's next and why?

TEACHING STANDARDS

(The standards descriptors are not exhaustive and should not be used as a checklist to self-assess your performance. They are included to provide guidance for your reflections.)

Domain I: Effective Planning, Instruction, Assessment

Planning
Standard 1: Unit and daily planning are consistent with AISC expectations.
Standard Description: Planning at all levels is consistent with the school's mission, the I.B. Learner Profile, the relevant written curriculum, an inquiry approach, and student needs (according to grade level and differentiated individual requirements). Planning reflects interdisciplinary considerations. Sequencing and time use are appropriate. Strategies, activities and assignments, resources (including technology as appropriate) are varied and appropriate. Teacher collaborates with relevant planning teams. Planning appropriately incorporates assessment outcomes. Outcomes are consistent with backward planning approaches to curriculum design.

Assessment
Standard 2: Assessment of student learning is consistent with AISC expectations.
Standard Description: Assessment is linked to curriculum and student learning expectations. It is diverse, both formal and informal, and responsive to students' learning. Feedback is timely, constructive, and specific. Assessment outcomes are recorded and considered for planning purposes. The teacher uses multiple measures, including summative and formative assessment, to evaluate student progress and growth. All measures of assessment are focused on improved learning. The teacher uses the data gained from assessment activities to strengthen teaching practice and student learning.

Personalized Learning Environment
Standard 3: Teacher demonstrates individual approach to students educational needs.
Standard Description: The teacher strives to get to know each student as an individual and uses multiple strategies that address student learning abilities and styles. The teacher demonstrates knowledge, skills, and ability to work with students with difficulties as well as the talented, gifted, and highly motivated students. The teacher differentiates instructions based on knowledge of student abilities, interests, and motivations. The teacher creates welcoming, collaborative, supportive yet challenging environments, and a culture of achievement and excellence.

Domain II: Positive Classroom Cultures

Teaching Practices
Standard 4: Teaching practices fulfill instructional goals, and engage and motivate students.
Standard Description: Expectations and pace (tempo) are consistent with instructional goals, and take into account student background knowledge, multi-cultural experience, language proficiency, and feedback. An inquiry-based approach and emphasis on active critical thinking are evident. The teacher demonstrates relevance of content within and across curricula. Assessments are meaningful to students and are relevant to the learning process. Activities are appropriate and diverse, and include hands-on assignments and technology where relevant. Group work is effective. Literacy and language proficiency are emphasized.

Teaching as Leadership
Standard 5: Teacher demonstrates skills and knowledge to design and realize clear and ambitious vision of students' success.
Standard Description: The teacher sets big, powerful goals that are measurable, ambitious and meaningful. The teacher invests students and their families by: creating welcoming environment, encouraging peer collaboration and support, as well as, culture of achievement and excellence, by using appropriately challenging academic strategies and plans, while informing and involving parents. The teacher plans purposefully, designs vision and progress assessments, and plans work accordingly. The teacher executes the plan effectively by ensuring that the entire instructional time, along with other classroom and school activities, contribute to the students learning. The teacher continuously increases self-effectiveness by: reflecting on students' outcomes, causes of success and weakness, and on solutions to overcome the challenges. The teacher works relentlessly toward student's success by achieving their goals while assuming personal responsibility and accountability for students learning outcomes.

Classroom Atmosphere
Standard 6: Teacher establishes a classroom culture conducive to learning.
Standard Description: There is a shared sense of the importance of subject content. The physical and social environment creates a sense of security and a willingness among students to take appropriate risks in learning. The teacher encourages active lifelong learning by modeling desired learning behaviors. The teacher manages time, space and resources well. Seating arrangements are flexible and encourage discussion and collaboration among the students. Transitions between activities are smooth, momentum is maintained and disruptions are limited. The teacher moves around classroom to monitor learning. The teacher offers encouragement, feedback, and help to both class and individuals; promotes a sense of inquiry and pride in work; encourages collaboration. Student work is displayed.

Domain III: Productive Communication and Collaboration

Communication
Standard 7: Oral and written communication is effective.
Standard Description: The teacher conveys expectations, content, and concepts clearly. Communication reflects inquiry-based strategies. A dialogue is established with students and the teacher listens and learns. Questions and answers are clearly and appropriately expressed. Examples are relevant, provide connections, and add to the student's understanding. Feedback, both in class and on homework, is clear and appropriately expressed. Communication encourages students to develop intellect, creativity, and character.

Connection to Students
Standard 8: Teacher-student rapport is effective and consistent with AISC beliefs.
Standard Description: The teacher is accessible to, respectful of, and professional with students. Teacher treats students as individuals, demonstrating warmth, understanding, and interest in their well being, and creates a sense of safety. Rules and expectations are explained. Students are engaged in the process of setting behavior norms and understand the rationale for classroom rules that are developed. Students are given equal chances to accept responsibility to participate and to succeed for their individual and collective learning and well being. Students are observed to be supportive of one another and work collaboratively as needed.

Collaboration
Standard 9: Teacher works productively with others, in accordance with AISC beliefs.
Standard Description: The teacher sees the collaborative expectations of the teaching profession as essential to student learning and takes responsibility for developing effective relationships among colleagues. The teacher supports and engages colleagues in a variety of ways. The teacher demonstrates a commitment to positive and constructive team work that keeps student learning at the center. As part of a collaborative culture, the school depends on individuals to meet deadlines, complete routine tasks, maintain accurate records, and report on student learning. The teacher seeks to build a culture of collaborative practice and contribute knowledge and skills to enhance teaching and learning at AISC. Further, the teacher works effectively with parents and, when appropriate, community members to enhance the student's learning experiences.

Domain IV: Engaged Professionalism

Knowledge
Standard 10: Teacher displays knowledge of content, pedagogy and student learning needs.
Standard Description: Teaching reflects knowledge of subject content, relevant research, connections within and across curriculum areas and student needs (according to age level, ESL needs, and differentiating to individual requirements). On a continuous basis, the teacher identifies the appropriate developmental levels of the students and differentiates instruction appropriately.

Professional Learning
Standard 11: Teacher reflects on, and aims to improve, own performance.
Standard Description: The teacher seeks professional growth to expand knowledge, skills, and effectiveness. The teacher embraces learning and feedback to enhance practice. The teacher is committed to keeping up with relevant research in appropriate fields. The teacher reflects on, develops, and adapts planning and teaching practices based on on-going learning. The teacher embraces the continuous improvement of relevant learning objectives, enduring understandings and essential questions, and benchmarks.

Technology
Standard 12: Teacher demonstrates proficiency with technology.
Standard Description: The teacher uses technology consistently with AISC's educational standards, benchmarks, policies, and initiatives to develop knowledge, to plan work, assess students, and communicate with the community. The teacher demonstrates abilities to integrate technology into all aspects of learning, stores data digitally, and uses technology to help students to learn in ways that would not be possible without it. By using available technology tools the teacher engages students and enhances their learning and promotes creative and innovative thinking.

Domain II: Teaching, Learning and Assessment

Standard 2: Technology Coaches assist teachers in using technology effectively for assessing student learning, Differentiating instruction, and providing rigorous, relevant, and engaging learning experiences for all students. Technology Coaches:

- Coach teachers in and model design and implementation of technology-enhanced learning experiences addressing Content standards and student technology standards.
- Coach teachers in and model design and implementation of technology-enhanced learning experiences using a variety of research-based, learner-centered instructional strategies and assessment tools to address the diverse needs and interests of all students.
- Coach teachers in and model engagement of students in local and global interdisciplinary units in which technology helps students assume professional roles, research real- world problems, collaborate with others, and produce products that are meaningful and useful to a wide audience.
- Coach teachers in and model design and implementation of technology-enhanced learning experiences emphasizing creativity, higher-order thinking skills and processes, and mental habits of mind (e.g., critical thinking, metacognition, and self-regulation).
- Coach teachers in and model design and implementation of technology-enhanced learning experiences using differentiation, including adjusting content, process, product, and learning environment based upon student readiness levels, learning styles, interests, and personal goals.
- Coach teachers in and model incorporation of research-based best practices in instructional design when planning technology-enhanced learning experiences.
- Coach teachers in and model effective use of technology tools and resources to continuously assess student learning and technology literacy by applying a rich variety of formative and summative assessments aligned with content and student technology standards.
- Coach teachers in and model effective use of technology tools and resources to systematically collect and analyze student achievement data, interpret results, and communicate findings to improve instructional practice and maximize student learning

Domain III: Digital-Age Learning Environments

Standard 3: Technology Coaches create and support effective digital-age learning environments to maximize the learning of all students. Technology Coaches:

- Model effective classroom management and collaborative learning strategies to maximize teacher and student use of digital tools and resources and access to technology-rich learning environments.
- Maintain and manage a variety of digital tools and resources for teacher and student use in technology-rich learning environments.
- Coach teachers in and model use of online and blended learning, digital content, and collaborative learning networks to support and extend student learning as well as expand opportunities and choices for online professional development and learning for teachers and administrators.
- Select, evaluate, and facilitate the use of adaptive and assistive technologies to support student learning.
- Troubleshoot basic software, hardware, and connectivity problems common in digital learning environments.
- Collaborate with teachers and administrators to select and evaluate digital tools and resources that enhance teaching and learning and are compatible with the school technology infrastructure.
- Use digital communication and collaboration tools to communicate locally and globally with students, parents, peers, and the larger community.

Domain IV: Professional development and learning and Program Evaluation

Standard 4: Technology Coaches conduct needs assessments, develop technology-related professional learning programs, and evaluate the impact on instructional practice and student learning. Technology Coaches:

- Conduct needs assessments to inform the content and delivery of technology-related professional learning programs that result in a positive impact on student learning.
- Design, develop, and implement technology rich professional learning programs that model principles of adult learning and promote digital-age best practices in teaching, learning, and assessment.
- Evaluate results of professional learning programs to determine the effectiveness on deepening teacher content knowledge, improving teacher pedagogical skills, and/or increasing student learning.

Domain V: Digital Citizenship

Standard 5: Technology Coaches model and promote digital citizenship. Technology Coaches:

- Model and promote strategies for achieving equitable access to digital tools and resources and technology-related best practices for all students and teachers.
- Model and facilitate safe, healthy, legal, and ethical uses of digital information and technologies

- Model and promote diversity, cultural understanding, and global awareness by using digital-age communication and collaboration tools to interact locally and globally with students, peers, parents, and the larger community.

Domain VI: Content Knowledge and Professional Growth

Standard 6: Technology Coaches demonstrate professional knowledge, skills, and dispositions in content, pedagogical, and technological areas as well as adult learning and leadership and are continuously deepening their knowledge and expertise. Technology Coaches:

- Engage in continuous learning to deepen content and pedagogical knowledge in technology integration and current and emerging technologies necessary to effectively implement the NETS-S and NETS-T.
- Engage in continuous learning to deepen professional knowledge, skills, and dispositions in organizational change and leadership, project management, and adult learning to improve professional practice.
- Regularly evaluate and reflect on their professional practice and dispositions to improve and strengthen their ability to effectively model and facilitate technology-enhanced learning experiences.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY INTEGRATOR PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

(The standards descriptors are not an exhaustive list and should not be used as a checklist to self-assess your performance. They are included to provide guidance for your reflections.)

The IT Integrator...

Domain I: Effective Planning and Preparation

Standard 1: Demonstrates knowledge of Information Technology content and pedagogy.

- Gives evidence of continuing pursuit of current content knowledge.
- Displays continuing search for best teaching practices.
- Demonstrates and shares best practices and content knowledge with colleagues.
- Displays relevant content knowledge.
- Makes connections within and across curricula.
- Demonstrates pedagogical practices that reflect current research on best practices.

Standard 2: Collaboratively plans and organizes ways to integrate technology that support students and teachers to achieve AISC curriculum outcomes.

- Works collaboratively with a variety of teams for the integration of technology.
- Supports teachers and students as they are involved in IT activities.
- Implements learning plans that are highly relevant to students and learning goal(s), while reflecting essential components of unit plans.
- Considers multi-cultural perspectives when working with students and teachers.
- Incorporates learning area philosophy and essential teaching agreements.

Standard 4: Motivates and engages students and teachers in purposeful IT learning.

- Helps teachers choose technology tools and content that is highly appropriate for AISC's students and links well with student knowledge and experience.
- Provides opportunities for students to demonstrate enthusiasm and a high degree of productivity with the use of technology.
- Provides motivation and opportunity for teachers and students to engage in projects or activities to enhance understanding.
- Conveys a high degree of enthusiasm for learning and teaching in the area of technology.
- Ascertains that students are cognitively engaged.
- Ensures that instructional groups are productive and connect to instructional goal(s)
- Makes learning relevant to the student
- Conveys enthusiasm for learning and teaching.
- Monitors and provides evidence of student learning.

Domain III: Learning Environment

Standard 5: Personalizes Learning

- Helps teachers to implements a variety of strategies with the use of technology tools to address student learning styles, modalities, and various "intelligences."
- Understands that teacher and student technology learning comes at a variety of levels and provides situations and environments for learning to take place.
- Accommodates for a variety of learning styles.
- Presents curriculum appropriate to student abilities.
- Teacher differentiates instruction, displaying understanding of students' disparate skills, knowledge, interests and background.

Standard 6: Collaborates with colleagues and IT support staff and exhibits team spirit.

- Works effectively with IT team (IT Coordinators, IT Assistants, IT Technicians) to create an efficient working environment for AISC students and faculty.
- Involved in the maintenance and trouble shooting of computer hardware and software.
- Shares and supports IT team on IT related issues.
- Works with IT team (IT Coordinators, IT Assistants, IT Technicians) to create a working environment for AISC students and faculty.
- Involved in the maintenance and trouble shooting of computer hardware and software.

Standard 7: Demonstrates sensitivity in teacher-teacher and teacher-student relations.

- Strives to know each student as an individual.
- Demonstrates superior ability in working with fragile or at-risk students.
- Proactively helps students overcome difficult barriers to mutual understanding and respect.
- Demonstrates professionalism, caring and respect in relations with students.
- Interacts appropriately with students, considering their developmental and cultural needs.
- Is accessible to meet with and get to know students.

Standard 8: Manages IT resources to ensure effective learning and teaching.

- Creates a lab classroom environment where students offer peer social and emotional support.
- Anticipates threatening situations and intervenes before student safety is compromised
- Advocates for improvements in school safety.
- Maintains and uses online resource scheduling and use of website for resources used in IT learning.
- Maintains a learning environment for students.
- Addresses student behavior that may prove harmful.
- Promotes safety awareness and knowledge of relevant safety procedures.

Standard 9: Develops IT activities and resource materials that benefit teaching and learning.

- Responds to request for IT assistance by teams or teachers.
- Helps to develop IT resources and create ways to make these resources available for teachers and students.
- Develops some IT activities and resource materials that benefit teaching and learning.
- Responds to some request for IT assistance by teams or teachers.
- Helps to develop IT resources and create ways to make these resources available for teachers and students.

Domain IV: Learning Community Responsibilities

Standard 10: Demonstrates effective interpersonal relationships

- Consistently shares new ideas, methods and resources with peers.
- Takes a leadership role in team-building.
- Makes a significant effort to understand and respond to cultural differences.

STUDENT FEEDBACK TO TEACHERS

Implementation Preface for Student-Teacher feedback

This should be read aloud to all students Grades 3-12 at the time of implementing the feedback tool

Today, you are going to have an opportunity to reflect upon your experiences in this class during the _____ school year. As you know, constructive feedback is an important part of improving and student input is taken under serious consideration as teachers plan for the future. We want you to know that the teaching staff values your comments. As you answer the questions using the scale on the survey, please think about your entire experience in the class and not just your most challenging or most rewarding experiences. In the short answer questions, it would be beneficial for us if you referred to specific activities or methods the teacher used that were successful for you as a learner. If you did give a low rating on any question, use the space provided on the back page to help the teacher understand why. Please be as clear and mature as possible in your explanation so that the teacher can think about ways to improve. This is a confidential survey and its only purpose is to help teachers become more effective in the classroom.

GLOSSARY

Accountability

To be answerable for; to act in a credible manner.

Assessment

Processes that are focused on quantitative and/or testing approaches and less on judgment.

Assistance Teams Log

A diary maintained by the Principal of an assistance team detailing activities and resources provided in the assistance effort. Dates, meeting times, and funds expended are included.

Authentic Assessment

Sometimes called nontraditional assessment, it is an act or procedure that is nearer to measuring the real ability and achievement of a student than traditional, especially multiple-choice, tests. Examples might be products, portfolios, performances, and personal communication.

Due Process

Protection for an employee for proper procedure and fair treatment. In the case of performance evaluation it includes notice, explanation, assistance, and time.

Ethical Behavior

Behavior that displays commitment to treat the welfare of others as comparable to one's own. Ethical behavior includes obligations to scientific practice, prudence, family, culture, and nation.

Evaluation

The process of determining the merit, worth or value of something, appropriately based on measures and synthesis of other valid evidence.

Excellence

Ever increasing quality of programs and products.

Formative Evaluation

The on-going collection of data used in the professional growth process.

Informal Observation

This casual, day-to-day observation can be of any length; doesn't require conferences.

Improvement Plan

A plan to assist a teacher whose performance does not meet AISC teaching standards.

Professional Improvement Pathway

The process used when an employee has not met certain specific performance standards. The employee is provided with assistance for improvement of teaching performance.

Multiple Sources of Input

Acquiring data about teaching performance from members of various stakeholder groups—students, parents, colleagues, and supervisors.

New Teacher Pathway

Ongoing evaluation for a 120-day probationary period (formative/summative).

Peer Advocate

A teacher, requested by a teacher who is placed on the Professional Improvement Pathway, who assists intensive assistance colleague to meet performance improvement goals, clarifies performance expectations and helps to assure due process.

Post-observation Conference

This conference is held following a scheduled observation for the purpose of discussing the observation and other factors relevant to the staff member's performance of responsibilities as listed in the teaching standards.

Professional Growth Portfolio

A portfolio of supporting data about teaching performance. The examples may include, but not be limited to, work samples, student's work, student, peer and parent feedback, assessments samples, growth plans, etc.

Professional Growth Plan

A plan with goal(s), methods for achieving them, designed to stimulate on-going professional growth for a staff member.

Professional Growth Pathway

The emphasis of this pathway is on setting goal(s) that are linked to the AISC teaching standards and then assessing achievement of the goal(s), after collecting multiple input data throughout the year.

Professionalism

To meet the teaching standards, to have strong and current content knowledge, to take initiative, to take risks, and take responsibility for continuously improving instructional practices to add value for our students, colleagues and our school.

Scheduled Observation

A process comprised of pre-observation, conf. class visit, and post-observation, goal(s), timeline, and assessment of goal(s).

Self-Assessment

Self-rating by an employee based on AISC teaching standards.

Self-Assessment Pathway

While the process for the Self-Assessment Pathway is similar to the Performance Growth Pathway, the key difference is that on this pathway the teacher is responsible for assessing their performance against all fifteen of the AISC teaching standards. In a majority of the cases, a teacher would follow this pathway every three years.

Stakeholders

All persons in the school who have a stake in quality education; students, parents, teachers, staff members, supervisors, board of education, and community members.

Student/Parent Surveys

Feedback instruments to determine client satisfaction.

School Values

Honesty, Respect, Responsibility, and Kindness (may be modified after strategic planning).

Supervisor/Goal Setting Facilitator

The principal, assistant principal, coordinator or upper school department chair assigned to set goals and monitor attainment of goals with teacher.

Teaching Standard

Statements that describe observable behaviors which, when performed, indicate fulfillment of teaching responsibilities.

Teaching Assessment Conference

This conference is held following an announced observation for the purpose of discussing the observation and other factors relevant to the staff member's performance of responsibilities as listed in the position description.

Unscheduled Observation

This casual, day-to-day observation can be of any length; its purposes are to validate and support effective performance and to monitor overall performance.

Individual Professional Learning & Development Funds Request Form

Mission:

Together we inspire a love of learning, empowering all students with the courage, confidence, creativity and compassion to make their unique contribution in a diverse and dynamic world.

AISC believes that the instructional programs offered by a school are directly affected by the quality and appropriateness of the professional development offered to the faculty. AISC also believes that these professional development experiences must be directly related to the Mission and Core Values of the school.

Process and Criteria – The following criteria for approval will be used by the AISC administration to assess the value and merit of the professional learning request. The request should meet all of the following criteria:

- The teacher has discussed the professional learning opportunity with his/her principal (and/or AP/IB Coordinator when training is specific to AP/IB) prior to writing the proposal.
- The Professional Learning & Development application form is thoroughly completed.
- The professional opportunity will contribute to improving the teacher's ability to fulfill his/her job responsibilities and is directly related to the professional goals identified. The professional development opportunity is related to the AISC Mission and Core Values with regards to Curriculum, Instruction, Assessment and/or Technology.
- Teachers may be granted up to $1,000.00 USD each school year to pursue professional development and learning opportunities. The maximum amount anyone can accumulate over a three-year period is $3,000.00 USD.
- Similarly, Teacher Aides may be granted up to $500.00 USD per school year and accumulate up to $1,500.00 USD over three years.
- Availing of funds from future school years, will only be considered once contracts for that school year have been signed and the requested advancement amount will not exceed the yearly amount of $1,000.00 USD.
- Per Diem is provided to assist in covering the expenses of transportation to and from the airport/hotel/conference and meals. Meals and transportation to and from the conference (work) will be free at most of the conferences, but when they are not, the per diem amount is enough to cover those expenses. Total per diem expenses should not total more than 20% of your total request.
- Professional Learning and Development application deadline - In your last contract year at AISC, the NESI Spring Educators Conference will serve as the deadline for using your professional learning and development funds.

NOTE: When a request is not approved, there could be one of four reasons:

- The professional opportunity appears to be more aligned with the career goals of the faculty member than with the goals of the school.
- The professional opportunity involves training outside of the teacher's current or projected job responsibilities with AISC.
- The professional opportunity involves less than 2 days of training or requires more than 5 days of missed school or when combined with other professionally related absences require the teacher to miss more than ten days of the school year.
- For returning AISC teachers, PD funds were spent during the previous school year.

Reflection:

Why did you choose the above attitudes/actions?

Reflect on the growth you have experienced in relation to each goal. You may submit a reflective narrative about the SAP-X process and your personal/professional growth or, if you prefer, you can respond to the following prompts.

In choosing the SAP-X approach, you were seeking ways to deepen your professional self-awareness, broaden your understanding of ways to improve your practice, and challenge your thinking about teaching and learning. Reflect on these aspects of your growth: What were highlights for you? What surprised you? What was most disruptive or challenging for you? What meaning do you derive from these aspects of the experience?

Response:

Part of the SAP-X experience is that you engage collaborative inputs from colleagues. Discuss what you learned from collegial participation and feedback and reflect on the value of collaboration as part of your professional growth.

Response:

Our best hopes would be that the SAP-X experience leads to new questions and feeds your thirst for further reflection and learning about yourself and your practice. So, regarding your professional growth, what's next and why?
